

Hello Students!

The Climate Commission for UK Higher and Further Education Students and Leaders has an exciting opportunity for you!

UNESCO has created the International Commission for the Futures of Education to lead a global debate to rethink education and shape the future culminating in a global report that will influence global education policy.

You are important and your opinions matter, and UNESCO wants you to contribute to their report!

The Climate Commission will be hosting an three, 1-hour long virtual focus groups to share what students have to say. The focus group will be facilitated by student Climate Commissioners and will involve an informal discussion about education with a maximum of 10 students. Our discussions will then be synthesised and sent to UNESCO. Read more about the event here.

Why should you get involved?

- It is a chance to influence global policy in an informal setting
- It is a chance to learn more about education
- You will meet other students and engage in interesting, meaningful conversations
- You will also contribute to the work of the UK-wide Climate Commission

Are you interested in taking part?

If you are interested in taking part, please email Fiona Goodwin at fgoodwin@eauc.org.uk by June 22th.

In your email, please include the following:

- Your name
- Your institution
- Qualification you are studying for
- Year of study

Additionally, please answer the following question: Why do you want to be involved in this focus group?

We look forward to discussing the future of education with you!
